

FIRST RUN FEATURES PRESENTS

“DISTURBINGLY RELEVANT... VERY MUCH A DOCUMENTARY OF OUR AGE.

A refreshingly clear and balanced narrative about the controversy that swept up the Association of Community Organizations for Reform Now (ACORN) during the 2008 presidential election.” -SALON

“INFURIATING. A NIMBLE ANALYSIS OF THE FOX ECHO CHAMBER.”

-FLAVORWIRE

“Brings us the often sordid tale of the takedown of this once-proud-and-successful agency. No matter where one stands on the ideological spectrum, this movie is an excellent bit of documentary history and journalism.”

-HAMMER TO NAIL

If you were impoverished and politically voiceless, ACORN hoped to change your mind. For 40 years, the community-organizing group sought to empower marginalized communities. Its critics, though, believed ACORN exemplified everything wrong with liberal ideals.

Fueled by a YouTube video made by two young conservatives who posed as pimp and prostitute in a sting, ACORN's very existence would be challenged. Acorn and the Firestorm goes beyond the 24-hour news cycle and cuts to the heart of the great political divide.
